The ANATOMIS

that an answer would be given when it could be seen what plan, if any, the Centinel had; and when the measure of his abuse should be so full that longer silence would be deemed inexcusable, and a retaliation be justified in the eyes of all impartial men.

That time is now come. Whatever could be done for the public in our present situation has been done, uninterrupted by any publications on the part of the Church in Pennsylvania. If in matters of less consequence her members should be found considerably alienated from those who have so basely traduced them, it cannot be deemed strange.—Indeed if they were consistent with themselves, and really believed what they have printed, they ought to be covered with confusion to solicit either union or communion, in any matter whatsoever with the members of a Church, which their Centinel and his adherents have painted in the following odious characters, viz.

hat has opposed the conversion of
A CHURCH that has
of conscien

Should any one conclude from those expressions (which might be done without much violence to their sense) that John maintains the infallibility of the venerable Synod, and thinks their minutes fit for God Almighty's own revision; and should further contend that the slapdash doctrines of John were the doctrines of the whole Presbyterian Kirk, which was therefore to be deemed a ranting enthusiastick Kirk, a rotten Kirk, a popish Kirk, maintaining more than the infallibility of a single Pope—even the infallibility of an hundred learned reputable Popes, in full synod or conclave met—would this be called fair reasoning?

And yet in the same way has the Church of England been treated on account of Dr. Chandler, who nevertheless seems to have given no provocation for it, nor uttered a single word reflecting on the principles of any protestant denomination. If then Dr. Chandler had been the aggressor, (the contrary of which shall be shewn) if even he had advanced any thing indefensible on the principles of law, liberty, equity and the Christian revelation, would this justify the torrent of abuse and calumny which is poured forth on the Church in answer to him?

The design of these papers, however, is not the defence of Dr. Chandler; who, if he needs any, is sufficient for that office himself. They have a nobler purpose in view—the defence of our national Church—of the religion of our sovereign, and of the far greatest, and, may I be allowed to say, the most respectable part of his subjects.

In prosecuting this design, (though the Centinel has observed no certain method) I think it necessary to fix some plan for my answer; and shall therefore first shew that Dr. Chandler, far from being an aggressor, is only a defendant in a dispute which was commenced on the part of the antagonists of the Church in New-England as early as 1734; from which time their repeated attacks shall be traced down to the publication of Dr. Chandler.

It is then proposed to enter the fears of every other religious persuasion in America, and created a jealousy that the sole view of this party is to erect an empire and establishment for themselves in this new world on the ruin of every other religious denomination. The steps that they have lately pursued in America, compared with their conduct in former times, when in the pursuit of empire in the Mother Country, give but too much ground for this suspicion. But before they can succeed in their designs, they will meet with a resistance far different from what is to be expected in this paper.—A resistance perhaps even unto blood.—To prevent this, to bring down their temper to the just standard of Christian charity and toleration; and to shew themselves to themselves and wipe off the reproaches which they have cast on the Church, is the main design of this paper,—which it is hoped will be carried on with a firmness and spirit, worthy of such a design; and yet without deviating into any recriminations or censures that are personal or not necessarily connected with the defence in hand.

ADVERTISEMENT.

If any gentlemen of leisure and abilities, the enemies of faction, and the friends of religious liberty and toleration, choose to communicate their thoughts to the public, upon the subject which the ANATOMIST has undertaken, he will be happy in their correspondence, and will pay the highest regard to any letters, essays, &c. which they shall be pleased to direct for him to the care of the Printers hereof.

On Tuesday last arrived the Ship Britannia, Capt. Muns, in six Weeks from London, by whom we have the London Papers to the third of August, containing the following Advices.

WARSAW, July 14.

THE troubles which reign in this State, instead of diminishing, increase more and more, and melancholy and terrifying picture. The King suffers infinitely; the form of government, is not on his Maand two Genoese Officers, of all the ammunition and provisions belonging to the Republic.

Genoa, June 25. They write from Corsica, that the French troops are almost all disembarked there. The Spanish Jesuits, who were in that island, have been transported into the Ecclesiastical State.

L O N D O N,

JULY 18. It is said the Squadron fitting out at Plymouth, designed to reinforce Commodore Spry in the Mediterranean, is ordered to be got ready for sailing with the utmost expedition. It is likewise said that upon its joining the Commodore, he will hoist his flag as a Rear Admiral of the Red.

They write from Gibraltar, that the Garrison are under apprehensions of being greatly strengthened for provisions, should the communication with Barbary be much longer shut up; and that it was expected the communication on the side of Spain would not long continue open.

JULY 21. To-morrow the remaining part of the baggage of his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, and also part of his domesticks will embark on board the Venus frigate at Woolwich, after which the said ship will sail for Portsmouth, to join the fleet for the Mediterranean station.

JULY 22. The Leyden Gazette, of the 5th inst. has the following article under the head London, July 1.—“The broils, which many persons seemed to fear, between this Crown and that of France, relative to the island of Corsica, are imaginary. It is sufficient for us to possess Gibraltar and Minorca for the protection of our commerce. Corsica, without being of any disadvantage to us, would cost us a great deal, and be one place more, where, in case of a war, we might be attacked. In this light the thing was considered when the Corsicans formerly offered of their own accord to put themselves under the dominion of the British Crown; and it is also under this point of view, that the matter has been decided in the Councils lately held on this subject.”

A letter from Gibraltar mentions, that all kinds of provisions had been advanced upwards of thirty per cent. since the communication with Barbary was shut up.

They write from Genoa, that, for divers important reasons, many principal persons are chagrined at the Republic having entered into the late treaty with France.

JULY 27. It is reported, that orders have been sent to the Commanders of the several stationed ships from Newfoundland to Cape Florida, to be in readiness, on the first notice, to join the commanding Officer at Boston in New England.

It is said that a large train of artillery is ordered to be got ready at Woolwich, and shipped on board transports in the River, for North America. It is given out, that Admiral How will take the command of a considerable Squadron to be sent to America.

red that certain American Governors are to resign their commissions, on account of intestine broils on the continent, and from the borders of the Vistula. The affairs of Poland are growing serious. The Peasants of the Ukraine, or Greek religion, are taking advantage of the troubles, to revenge, as they pretend, the wrongs they have received. They murder all Jews who fall into their hands, with women and children. Whole towns and villages, have been burnt. In short, the devastation is beyond all description.

We hear that all the Government principal Officers, civil and military, are going to any of his Majesty's plantations, either in Europe or America, will henceforth be obliged to spot, or throw up their corn.

A letter from Volhynia says, that the Greeks has been massacred the Ukraine, for having given notice of Pawalocz and his Lieutenants of the insurgents, by which they way. The Governor of the shirt, abandoning his wife and children, fled to the mountains. All these disorders (tis added) by the Confederates of Bar, the Greeks who did not embrace the Greek religion.

carry over some important dispatches to his Excellency General Gage, Commander in Chief of his Majesty's forces in North America.

"There are several recent Letters in town, says an Evening Paper, which positively assert the evacuation of the Island of Corfica by the French troops; and farther give advice of four British men of war, being constantly cruising off that Island and Minorca; so that, in all human probability, all matters are amicably adjusted in those parts, without proceeding to hostilities."

They write from Leghorn, that General Paschal de Paoli had very narrowly escaped being surprised by the enemy lately, while at the head of a small reconnoitring party, in the neighbourhood of Erba-longa.

August 2. It is rumoured that two Noblemen of distinction are going over to North-America, to enquire personally into the grievances complained of, and on other matters of consequence.

Also that real Admiral Colville will be appointed to the command of a fleet, destined beyond the Atlantic.

August 3. Some ships of war are ordered to be got ready to sail with all expedition to Gibraltar, in order to keep a close look out, for the protection of the Straights in general, and the island of Corfica in particular.

We hear that all the Governors, Colonels, and other principal Officers, civil and military, belonging to any of his Majesty's foreign garrisons and plantations, either in Europe, Asia, Africa, or America, will henceforth be obliged to reside upon the spot, or throw up their commissions.

A letter from Volhynia says, "The Bishop of the Greeks has been massacred by the peasants of the Ukraine, for having given notice to the Governor of Pawalocz and his Lieutenant, of the designs of the insurgents, by which means they got out of their way. The Governor of Smila flew off in his shirt, abandoning his wife and children to their fury. All these disorders (tis added) have been occasioned by the Confederates of Bar threatening to kill all the Greeks who did not embrace the Roman Catholic religion."

They write from Berlin, that considerable quantities of warlike ammunition had been sent to Magdebourg; and that his Prussian Majesty had issued orders for all the officers who served during the late war in his light-troops to hold themselves in readiness to take the field.

According to letters from Corfica, the French who amount already to ten thousand men, were advancing their posts, and it seemed as if the first attack would be made at Furiani.

Extract of a letter from Leghorn, July 9.

"Advices from Corfica inform, that the French troops are amassing there great quantities of provisions and ammunition, in order to take the field: the Malecontents, on the other hand, have resolved not to be the first to act offensively; but whenever they shall be attacked, they will defend their liberty at the price of their lives."

NEW-YORK, September 22.

By our last Advices from Boston, we cannot find that there is any Truth in the Report of the People of the Province having taken Possession of the Castle, or that the Commissioners had taken Sanctuary on board a Man of War. Nor is it certain that any Soldiers are going there, tho' such a Report prevails, and the Governor seems to expect them, tho' he has declared he has had no authentic Account of their coming.

POETS CORNER.

The Reasonable Fair: Or, Moderate With.
WHILE Phyllis, with ambitious views,
 Her Int'rest in this world pursues;
 While selfish Sylvia aims her darts
 At suitors' puffs,—not their hearts;
 May I in calm contentment find
 An easy balance of the mind,
 Grant me, ye powers, whom I adore,
 These trivial boons—I ask no more.

O may I be with wisdom fraught—
 As Pallas in the depth of thought!
 May I in sweets with Flora vie,
 With heav'n's great Queen in majesty!
 May I be more than Venus fair,
 With such a shape, and such an air,
 No female e'er possess'd before—
 Of fate on earth, I ask no more.

May Fame, who with the rest makes free,
 Or celebrate, or wink at me!
 May I, instead of rivals find
 Friends and allies in woman-kind;
 May what I do, or say, or wear,
 Be fashion 'mongst the young and fair.
 Grant me, ye powers, whom I adore,
 These trivians boons, I ask no more.

May crowds of lovers throng my gates,
 And in obsequious levees wait!
 To make all day a grand parade,
 All night as grand a serenade!
 Let them wait sighs, and verses sing,
 And every amorous present bring!
 Let them grant all they have in store,
 Of them and heav'n I ask no more.

PETER VIANEY,
 CONTINUES to teach Music, Fencing and Dancing, at Mrs. Hayes's, opposite to the Hon. John W. Att's, near the Exchange.

He proposes to open his Public Dancing School on the first Monday of October; where he will teach Minuets and French Country-Dances, at a Pistole a Quarter, and a Pistole Entrance.—He teaches—Ladies or Gentlemen in Private, either at Home or at their own Houses, at a Pistole a Month, and a Pistole Entrance.

As he teaches in the Style of the best Masters in Europe, and their Manner is discoverable in his Scholars, tho' none of them have yet had Time to be perfected in their Minuets, he makes no Doubt of being honour'd with the further protection and Countenance of those Ladies and Gentlemen who have hitherto employ'd him.

Having been informed that he has been mistaken for a Dancing-Master, whose Behaviour to his Scholars gave just Offence in this City some Years ago, he takes the Liberty to inform those who are not acquainted with him, that he never was in this Country, till the Year 1764. And that all who know him, will do him the Justice to testify, that his Conduct has ever been regular and unexceptionable.

THE highest Encouragement will be given to an honest Forgerman, (who can be well recommended) to superintend a Forge with two Fires, already supplied with eight Hands, who understand the Business: For Particulars apply to the Printer hereof. 39 43

THE Trustees of the College of New-Jersey, give Notice to the Public, That whereas the Grammar School which used to be kept under the Direction of the President, as a Nursery for the College has been discontinued for some Time, on Account of the long Vacancy of that Office: That the Chair being now filled by the Arrival of the Gentleman lately chosen from North-Britain: The School is to be opened under its Direction, precisely on the 17th Day of November next, being the Beginning of the Winter Term in the College. The PRESIDENT, has already provided a Person to teach it; and has undertaken to the Trustees to lay down a Plan of proceeding to the Teacher, to have it under his constant Inspection; and take Care that it be conducted on the very best Principles.—This he hopes to be able to do with the greater Success, for that, being acquainted, before he left Home, that such a Thing would be expected from him, he took Care to perfect his Scheme, by conversing with some of the most eminent and approved Teachers in Great-Britain. Parents are desired to take Notice, that their Children being properly founded in the Languages, is of the utmost Importance to their subsequent Studies in College being easy, pleasant, and successful.—Several reputable Householders in Princeton, have engaged to the Trustees, to take Boarders at as cheap a Rate, as is presumed, as in any Town in this Province, where a public Grammar School is taught: And if the Parents of any of the Children should incline to have them boarded in the College, the Trustees have consented to their being taken in and supplied as the Scholars are. There is a Terrestrial Globe provided for the School, that they may be taught Geography at some Hours of Leisure; they will also have an Hour each Day appropriated to Writing and Arithmetick without any additional Expence, which it is of Importance that they learn early. This Notice is given so long before the Time of opening School, that Parents may have their Children there seasonably; and it is particularly desired that such as have Children to begin the Latin, would send them, if possible, upon the very Day above mentioned; that they may neither suffer any Loss themselves, nor be the Means of retarding others.
